Projects

Cori's DogFight - Front End Capstone

I created an app for a local Nashville business, Cori's DogHouse, so their costumers to track their hot dog consuming process.

- App has full CRUD functionality and was creating using React..
- I used CSS and React Bootstrap for styling for an easy user interface.

About

Moving to Nashville from rural Illinois has been a interesting journey. Over the last 7 years of working odd jobs from Event Lighting, service industry work and being a professional songwriter has given me a Swiss army knife book of skills that helps me with my new path, coding. Now starting on my new career of software development through the teaching of Nashville Software School has pushed me to new feats of what I feel like I am able to accomplish. From organization and communication skills- to problem solving like I have never done before.
